

Daniel Carroll to Thomas Jefferson, October 25, 1792, from Thomas Jefferson and the National Capital. Edited by Saul K. Padover.

Daniel Carroll to Jefferson

Baltimore Octr. 25th. 1792

Dear Sir,

Yr favor respecting Mr Hallet<sup>40</sup> came to my hands just as I was leaving home. I presumed you received by him the letter which Docr. Stuart & myself wrote to you. I hope what we did for him was sufficient for his purposes, & that I shall meet him at George-Town the 1st of Next week.

40 Unable to locate this letter. — S.K.P.

On my reaching this place I found a letter from George Town giving me information that Mr. Blodgett had in consequence of what had passed between him and the Commissioners disposed of 12 Lotts (£100 each) to persons residing to the Northwards who came down after the public Sale. The Commissioners have said something in their letter to you as well as the President respecting this Gentleman. I cannot forbear adding that he appears to me to be very much in earnest for the prosperity of the City of Washington, & I believe may have it in his power to render it great Service.

I am, My dear Sir, with great esteem

Yr most respectful hble Servt Danl. Carroll

Library of Congress

P.S. I should be glad to hear something of the plans of the City with the Soundings.

[Ms., Jefferson Papers, Library of Congress.]